8 Area Girls Compete For Title

More than forty co-eds will compete for the "Miss ESJC 1973" title in the Ninth Annual Beauty Review at Enterprise State Junior College at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, October 18, 1973.

The event, sponsored by the junior college year book staff, is open to any fulltime unmarried female student who plans to attend ESJC through spring quarter 1974. Contestants are nominated by clubs, classes, campus organizations and individuals, and must have a C average or better if a sophomore or a high school average of C or better if a freshman. Deadline for entrants is Wednesday, October 10, 1973.

Fred D. Donaldson, a widely known insurance executive from Enterprise, will serve as Master of Ceremonies. Last year's "Miss ESJC", Debbie Boyd, will crown the new queen and judges residing outside the Wiregrass area will make the selections.

The winner will represent the junior college at community and college events throughout the school year.

The Coffee County Republican Women's Club will meet on October 18, 1973 at 9:30 a.m. at the Farm Center in New Brockton, Al.

The Elba City Council had announced plans to appoint someone to fill the vacancy on the city council at Tuesday night's meeting. However, due to the hospitalization of Councilman Sam Sawyer early Tuesday, Mayor Owen Ziglar said he felt the action should wait until all councilmen could be present; therefore, no action was taken on the matter.

Mrs. Inez Walker is shown holding a bathrobe belt with a small dead snake clinging to the belt of the robe. Mrs. Walker found the dead snake hanging right there on the belt when she began cleaning out a closet at her home on Smith Avenue last Saturday morning. She has no idea how the snake got into her closet or what caused it to die clinging to the bathrobe, unless the snake bit the cloth and hung its teeth in the fibers and could not get loose. The snake was one of the more common non-poisonous varieties seen around homes and gardens in this area.

Arlander Flowers, a trustee at the Coffee County Jail, "walked away" from the jail Monday and has not been seen by law of C or better if a freshman. Deadline for entrants is Wednesday, October 10, 1973.

Flowers, who lived in the Rolen community, was serving time on a no-driver's license charge and for not appearing in court charge. Head just completed, Deputy Sheriff Neil Grantham told this newspaper that Flowers had passed his patrol car about noon. He was reported missing about 1:30. He was considered a "good trustee".

Octane Explained

Your favorite gasoline pump now bears an octane number. What does it mean? Ray Wright, marketing director of the American Petroleum Institute, explains: "The number is a measure of the gasoline's anti-knock quality, and is a blend of two methods of figuring octane ratings—the 'research' method and the 'motor' method.

"Under the research method a typical regular grade of gasoline might get a 94 octane rating, while under the combination research-motor method the rating for the same grade would be about 90.

"But whatever the technicalities, the best way to determine a gasoline's anti-knock quality is to test the various grades in your car. Car engines, even in the same model lines, frequently have varying octane requirements."

This newspaper has again received an unsigned letter from a dissatisfied citizen. This time someone is mad with the police department. If the charges are true, it should be stopped but since we don't know who wrote the letter we can't print it. If the writer will come forward and identify himself, we will print the letter, check out the facts and if necessary, we will swing the ball bat to correct the problem.

I sure got mad with the New York Mets Sunday. It seems they tried their best to lose the World Series game after getting ahead twice. Finally after 12 innings they did win the game but even as little as I care about baseball games on the tube, I sure did get upset several times.

For several weeks I have been talking with people making notes and listening to ideas concerning getting additional industry for Elba. A number of "people in the know" have promised to support an active drive for more industry if promised to support an active drive for more industry for our town and now I am putting my plan of action in writing and will publish it soon. But I received a shock one day last week. A man from the Alabama Development Office (they hunt industry for Alabama towns) came by here for help in doing a feature on Coffee County industry in their monthly newsletter, and quoted a prominent politician as saying we didn't need more industry in Coffee County. Well, I promptly voiced my opinion of that statement and then mellowed it some by saying he had probably misunderstood our county official.

If you are a UFO fan the daily papers have been full of "facts" about them lately. Personally I am not a "believer" and always wonder if these men who give such vivid accounts have actually gotten some bad whiskey and it has put ideas in their heads and pink elephants before their eyes. Seriously, I wonder if the Mississippi case last week is not something like the college students in Georgia several years ago who shaved a monkey, dyed him green and called him the man from Mars! It took a bunch of experts to solve that jewel.

SENATOR SPARKMAN ANSWERS QUESTIONS

DEAR SENATOR SPARKMAN: Recent news reports indicate that enlistments in the Army are much lower than was expected by those who proposed a volunteer army. This confirms my belief that an all volunteer army just won't work. How do you view this situation? R. A. Chatham

SPARKMAN: I am very much concerned about a volunteer armed force. I believe it can be made to work, but not just through increased pay. From the time I was on the Military Affairs Committee in the House, I have strongly urged the Army to do more like the Navy has done through the years in providing the enlistee with a program that will train him for a successful career after leaving the Service. The Army does some of it, but not near enough. I have talked with the Lieutenant General who is in charge of Army personnel and given him my ideas. I hope more and more is done so that it will be possible to maintain the volunteer army.

DEAR SENATOR SPARKMAN: Once again I am knocking on your door for help because in the past you have been of service to me. On June 30 I returned from the U.S. Civil Service with 31 years of accredited time. As of this date I have not received a retirement check and I am in dire need of financial compensation. I would greatly appreciate your help in getting relief from this situation. L. J. Decatur SPARKMAN: The Civil Service Commission has advised me that it is processing your application for retirement benefits as promptly as possible. However, I have suggested that the Commission determine whether or not you may receive a check by special payment in order to meet your immediate needs. Additionally, I have asked the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee to look into this problem to see if any action can be done to speed up the processing of retirement applications.

DEAR SENATOR SPARKMAN: I understand you have a weekly radio interview program. Can you tell me what station near our area broadcasts this program? G. E. Dothan SPARKMAN: My weekly radio program can be heard on radio station WAGF, located in Dothan, at 4 a.m. every Sunday. WAGF transmits on 1590 kilocycles.

THE WEEK THAT WAS

CONGRESSMAN BILL DICKINSON

In my weekly news column January 15th of this year I said, "This will be the most turbulent Congress in which I have served and the stormiest in decades." Even if nothing else happens, that prediction has already come true. We've had Watergate and Presidential vetoes and Congressional attempts to override those vetoes and budget squabbles and attempts to slash our military forces and so forth. But, the most tempest tossed week in this hectic year has to be the second week in October.

Last week we were bombarded with various news stories. On the lighter side, we had the New York Mets, in last place earlier this year, beating Cincinnati to capture the National League crown in Baltimore and Oakland battled for the American League championship. In other sports action, the nation saw the Washington Redskins beat the Dallas Cowboys.

On the serious side, the "Holy Day War" started and is continuing. The U. N. Security Council met and debated the decision on nothing. "Oil politics" in the Middle East undoubtedly played a major role in the Egyptian-Syrian decision to attack Israel. And, we've learned that our Russian "friends" are resupplying the Arabs with war materials. The Arab war to home, the bomb was dropped when Sen. Agnew resigned as Vice President. I am disappointed and saddened, although I suspected resignation was imminent. I knew the right before Agnew resigned.

Just two months ago, the United States Senate passed a strong new bill regulating the conduct of federal election campaigns. Today, scarcely before the ink on the bill has had an opportunity to dry, Congress is being pushed to approve the financing of federal election campaigns.

I do not believe that the Federal government should subsidize political parties and political candidates. Instead of bringing candidates closer to the people they serve, federal financial support of candidates would only move government and government officials further away, and it would make them less responsive to the wishes of the people and less dependent on popular approval of their actions. By taking away the right of a citizen to give his financial support to a candidate or political party of his choice, those critics who destroy much of the spirit of volunteer support and public participation in elections which are a necessary part of our political system and our political freedom. The only solution is to clean up the election process and greatly reduce amounts that can be contributed and spent in campaigns. The Senate's strong bill, if approved by the House, will go a long way toward removing some of the abuses of the present system. We already look to the government for too much. Let's not turn over the financing of political campaigns to the Federal government, too, but let's put within the reach of able men and women of modest means the opportunity of submitting their candidacies for any office within the gift of the people.

Federal Financing Of Political Campaigns Would Not Be Answer To Political Misdeeds

SENATOR JIM ALLEN

Just two months ago, the United States Senate passed a strong new bill regulating the conduct of federal election campaigns. Today, scarcely before the ink on the bill has had an opportunity to dry, Congress is being pushed to approve the financing of federal election campaigns.

I do not believe that the Federal government should subsidize political parties and political candidates. Instead of bringing candidates closer to the people they serve, federal financial support of candidates would only move government and government officials further away, and it would make them less responsive to the wishes of the people and less dependent on popular approval of their actions. By taking away the right of a citizen to give his financial support to a candidate or political party of his choice, those critics who destroy much of the spirit of volunteer support and public participation in elections which are a necessary part of our political system and our political freedom. The only solution is to clean up the election process and greatly reduce amounts that can be contributed and spent in campaigns. The Senate's strong bill, if approved by the House, will go a long way toward removing some of the abuses of the present system. We already look to the government for too much. Let's not turn over the financing of political campaigns to the Federal government, too, but let's put within the reach of able men and women of modest means the opportunity of submitting their candidacies for any office within the gift of the people.

While retaining the strong sections of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, the new bill provides more restrictive limits on campaign contributions and spending; it requires that contributions of more than $50 must be made by traceable check instead of by cash; it places a reasonable overall limit on how much candidates may spend in primaries and general elections; and it requires full financial disclosures by all candidates for federal office.

But now some critics are claiming that strict regulation of private political campaigns is not enough—that the only way to clean up political campaigns is to have them financed by the Federal government out of Federal tax funds to the tune of some $200 to $300 million tax dollars for each election year.

LEGISLATURE CHANGES GI BENEFITS

The last session of the Alabama Legislature passed an Act which made several changes in the "Alabama G.I. and Dependents' Educational Benefit Act." Governor Wallace signed the Act into law on September 19, 1973. It should be of great interest to disabled Alabama veterans and their dependents, or dependents of deceased veterans whose disabilities are or were service connected and rated at 40% or more.

Changes in the Act signed by Governor Wallace now provide for free books in addition to free tuition and instructional fees. Other significant changes provide for school attendance on a part-time basis; raises age limit for children's applications to age 26; allows 8 years for completion of those authorized 36 months training and 6 years for completion of those authorized 18 months training. For dependents to be eligible, the veteran must have been a permanent resident of Alabama for 1 year prior to entering service and his disabilities must have been rated at 40% or more and incurred in a wartime period; or, if deceased the veteran must have died from wartime service connected disabilities or have been rated at 40% at time of death for service connected wartime disabilities. Dependents of a 100% disabled veteran, not a resident of Alabama prior to entry into service, may also qualify if he has been a permanent resident in Alabama for 5 years.

Miss Dismukes Weds Robert Hart

In a setting of candlelight and palms at seven thirty in the evening of Saturday, October 6, at the First Baptist Church of Haines City, Miss Zao Alisa Dismukes became the bride of Robert Hertz Wayne Hart of Winter Haven. The Rev. Marcus Jowers, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Norman Dismukes of Haines City, Fla. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Hart of Winter Haven, Fla.

Vows were pledged in a ceremony performed before a candlelight setting of wedding palms and early fall flowers. A double tier of fourteen branched candelabra formed the focal point of the chancel. At the center of the altar setting was a white prie-dieu and a three-branch candelabra which was used in the ceremony.

Four large candle holders, yellow carnations, white mums and yellow and white daisies completed the background.

Mrs. Maurice Webster, organist, gave the program of wedding music, including the traditional wedding marches. Miss Linda Marshall and Miss Jane Edwards of Winter Haven, presented violin renditions of "A Concerto for Two Violins" and "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring". The vocalist was Mrs. Andy Dukes who sang "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing," "The Lord's Prayer," and "The Wedding Song."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight pearls featuring a high Victorian neckline and long tapered sleeves of English net set with lace appliques and pearl clusters. The empire bodice, contained appliques of re-embroidered Alencon lace and pearls, and was styled with a sheer yoke of imported English net and closed at the back with tiny self-covered buttons. The gown was fashioned on an A-line silhouette and terminated in a chapel train. Her chapel length mantilla of silk illusion was edged with a deep border of re-embroidered Alencon lace and was attached to a Cameo cap of lace and pearls. She carried a lovely cascade bouquet of orchids, stephanotis, and ivy.

Miss Pamela Pegg of Haines City served as maid of honor. All attendants wore identical formal gowns of moss green jakarta styled with a fitted bodice and short sleeves with double ruffles. The back featured Dior bows at the empire waistline.

Robert H. Hart, father of the groom, served as best man. For her daughter's wedding, the bride's mother chose a formal blue muller jersey gown with a high cuffed neckline, fathered at the waist with a jeweled insert. She wore matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The mother of the groom wore a Kelly green full length crepe gown with rhinestoned tons and belt trim. Mrs. L.J. Dismukes of Elba, Alabama, paternal grandmother of the bride, wore a long-sleeved formal gown of apricot crepe and a corsage of white roses.

Following the ceremony the parents of the bride honored the couple with a reception at the Country Club.

Mrs. Russell Hart, sister-in-law of the groom, presided at the bride's register. The bride's table was overlaid with a white floor length cloth of French Tegal with folds of the material encircling the top of the table and caught at intervals with handmade satin roses with showers of ribbons. The table was centered with a tiered wedding cake on a silver plateau, flanked on either side with silver epergnes holding arrangements of white bride's roses, white carnations and baby's breath interspersed with cathedral tapers.

For travel the bride chose a brown and white three-piece knit pants suit with harmonizing accessories. Her corsage was of bronze daisies and yarrow. Following a trip to the outlying islands of South America, the couple will be at home at 302 Avenue C. N. E. in Winter Haven.

The bride is a graduate of Haines City High School and received a B.A. degree in Political Science from the University of Florida in June of 1973. The groom is a graduate of Winter Haven High School and received a B.S. degree in Business Administration and Marketing from the University of Alabama in 1971. He is now employed in Winter Haven.

ELBA TIGERS SQUEEZE BY GREENVILLE 21-15

The Elba Tigers went to Greenville last Friday night and almost got more than they bargained for as the stubborn Greenville Tigers kept coming right back and never gave up. It was nip and tuck in the seesaw contest as the teams swapped the lead three times.

The Elba Tigers had a difficult time with their offensive unit and were stalling all night. The Greenville Tigers, expected to be easily controlled by Elba's defense, were almost more than a match as they showed a great deal of explosive-ness.

Elba won the toss and chose to receive. The Greenville defense stunned the Elba Tigers and offensive play seemed to be easily controlled by Elba's defense, were almost more than a match as they showed a great deal of explosive-ness.

Elba came back strong, returning the kick-off to their 41. In six plays Elba had moved to the Greenville 14 yard line, but a five yard offside penalty put a lid on the action. Following the penalty, Holley ran for no gain on second down. On third and eight Elba passed in complete. And on fourth down Elba was dumped back at the 31.

Greenville quickly passed to the Elba 45, but two plays later a holding penalty against Greenville put the ball back to the Greenville 33. Another penalty against Greenville, a personal foul, put the ball at the 18.

After two turnovers Elba took advantage of good field position and in seven plays had six points on the scoreboard. The extra point failed and the score at half was 6-6.

Both teams came out the second half ready to play ball, but Greenville struck first. After returning the second-half kick-off to their own 49 they got all wheels turning and passed and ran their way 51 yards for a TD. The drive began at their own 49, but started with a five yard loss to the Elba defense on first down. Second down saw plenty of daylight as Greenville took the ball to the Elba 30 on a 25 yard run. Two plays later Greenville was penalized 15 yards for holding, but this didn't stop them as they moved to the Elba six in two more plays. Aided by two offside penalties against Elba at this point, Greenville scored their second TD of the night. The two-point conversion failed, but Greenville led 12-6 with 5:58 left in the third quarter.

After returning the kick-off to the 37, Elba struck back with a drive of their own lasting 11 plays and four minutes. The key play of this drive came when Elba faced a third and eight situation from the Greenville 24. Ellis swept left end on the keeper to the 13 to keep the drive alive. From here the Elba Tigers were penalized five yards, which put the ball at the 18. Ellis kept on the next play to the 10. Demp Holley scored from five yards out after a scuffle, which resulted in a Greenville player being ejected from the game and a penalty half the distance to the goal against the Greenville Tigers. Clive Collier kicked the extra point and with 1:43 left in the third quarter Elba led for the first time 13-12.

Greenville was by no means ready to give up though, and after receiving the kick-off moved to the Elba 15 before being stopped. On fourth and 11 Greenville kicked a 35 yard field goal with 9:49 left in the fourth quarter and led once again, 15-13.

The Elba Tigers were determined to win and came right back and Sasser almost broke the kick-off for a TD, but was brought down at the Elba 48. With the help of a major distance penalty against Greenville, Elba was able to score in 13 plays with 5:10 left in the game. A two-point conversion attempt was good and Elba led 21-15.

For the last five minutes of the game the Elba defense contained the Greenville Tigers and went on to win 21-15.

PEANUT PROGRAM

Coffee County peanut growers are worried about the proposed legislation affecting peanuts. And they certainly have every right to be. It is ironic that, just when farmers are beginning to make a reasonable return in peanut production, attempts are made to change the program.

Someone said recently that it would be difficult for us to produce at world prices, and certainly agree. Even with the present price structure, a lot of our farmers are struggling to keep up with the high cost of production.

I hope that we can keep the program like it is with some changes to make it even more profitable for the farmer. Peanuts are an important crop in our county, and with many uses. I surely would hate to see the government discourage the production of a crop that has so many uses as a food crop and has such a great potential.

SUCCESS AND FAILURES

Rowe Bowers, who lives on Route 4, Elba, pointed out to me this morning that he sees signs of successful farm operations in the papers and magazines occasionally, but rarely does he see a failure story. I am sure that Bowers is right in this because people like to print good news when it comes to farming. However, as Bowers also pointed out, a lot of people in the big cities might get the opinion that every farmer has a great success every year. This, of course, would be misleading.

I guess I am guilty of being overly optimistic at times. One of my banker friends Farrel Reeves reminds me of this occasionally. Over the years I have tempered my enthusiasm in predicting crop yields. But I am still an optimist, and believe that the next 10 years will be the best in Coffee County agriculture.

FARM RECOGNITION

The Agriculture Committee of the Enterprise Chamber of Commerce will meet shortly to finalize plans for a farm recognition dinner. Members of the committee are: Roy Sims, Deween Bond, Mollie Seaton, James L. Sawyer, Dolan Averett, Charles Waters, Philip Martin, Jimmy Henderson, Wayne Roberts, Richard Fleming, Bill Parker, Dan Presley, Wilbur Warren and Gene Childs.

I have talked with some members of the committee, and they want to get an outstanding speaker for this special event honoring our farmers. In fact, an effort is being made to get Governor Jimmy Carter of Georgia to be the principal speaker. Governor Carter is one of the leading peanut producers in the nation and is intensely interested in agriculture.

The committee is going to do the best it can in getting an outstanding speaker. In fact, Fred Donaldson, President of the Chamber of Commerce, has the committee under the gun and is insisting on a first-class program.

Safety

The Rev. Doug Newton of St. Luke Methodist Church in Enterprise talked to me last night about a farm accident that occurred sometime back in another county. He pointed out that a young boy was riding on a tractor with an adult, and the tractor was hanging onto the seat beside him. I wanted to stop and tell him how he was endangering the lives of those children. Of course, a lot of farmers do this with it. However, a sudden jolt of a tractor, or losing a toe-hold can result in an instant tragedy.

I saw a tractor stop in a field one day. The tractor was stuck in a ditch. The tractor was stuck in a ditch. The tractor was stuck in a ditch.

I saw a tractor stop in a field one day. The tractor was stuck in a ditch. The tractor was stuck in a ditch. The tractor was stuck in a ditch.

I guess I am guilty of being overly optimistic at times. One of my banker friends Farrel Reeves reminds me of this occasionally. Over the years I have tempered my enthusiasm in predicting crop yields. But I am still an optimist, and believe that the next 10 years will be the best in Coffee County agriculture.

FARM RECOGNITION

The Agriculture Committee of the Enterprise Chamber of Commerce will meet shortly to finalize plans for a farm recognition dinner. Members of the committee are: Roy Sims, Deween Bond, Mollie Seaton, James L. Sawyer, Dolan Averett, Charles Waters, Philip Martin, Jimmy Henderson, Wayne Roberts, Richard Fleming, Bill Parker, Dan Presley, Wilbur Warren and Gene Childs.

I have talked with some members of the committee, and they want to get an outstanding speaker for this special event honoring our farmers. In fact, an effort is being made to get Governor Jimmy Carter of Georgia to be the principal speaker. Governor Carter is one of the leading peanut producers in the nation and is intensely interested in agriculture.

The committee is going to do the best it can in getting an outstanding speaker. In fact, Fred Donaldson, President of the Chamber of Commerce, has the committee under the gun and is insisting on a first-class program.

The Rev. Doug Newton of St. Luke Methodist Church in Enterprise talked to me last night about a farm accident that occurred sometime back in another county. He pointed out that a young boy was riding on a tractor with an adult, and the tractor was hanging onto the seat beside him. I wanted to stop and tell him how he was endangering the lives of those children. Of course, a lot of farmers do this with it. However, a sudden jolt of a tractor, or losing a toe-hold can result in an instant tragedy.

LOVE IS...

...his number on your football poster.

...accepting his excuses about staying at home because he has not had a bath.

...hugging him when he's just gotten out of the football field, getting your new blouse all dirty, but not caring how sweaty & nasty he is.

...still dreaming of the good times you had a year after it was all over.

...thinking of him the first thing when you wake up in the morning.

...crying every time you hear a song which belongs to the two of you.

...taking any kind of chances just to be with him.

...listening to his dumb stories when you don't feel like listening to anything.

...taking the chance of getting caught cheating on a test just so he can pass.

...never giving up on him, even when you find out he didn't get in until 4:30 in the morning.

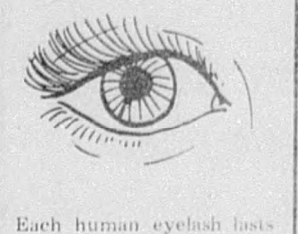

...feeling the pain that he feels always being there whenever he needs you.

...constantly worrying about him even when he says there is no need to worry.

...putting up with his constant aggravation but not really minding it.

...trumping barefooted through his room when he just so he can satisfy his curiosity.

...the feeling you got as he two of you listen quietly to the radio as the TIDE rolls.

Each human eyeball looks about 150 days.

TODAY

Oh, what a day is today. A change from something old to something new. A day to remember, yet a day to forget. A day of joy, a day of sorrow. A day of memories, a day of new thoughts. A day to dread, a day to look forward to. What is today? Why, it's every day of my life!

ON THE LIGHTER SIDE

Which travels faster, heat or cold?

Heat. You can't catch cold.

Why is an "F" dangerous?

It makes Dad mad.

Heat. You can catch cold.

What is the difference between here and there?

The "T".

Johnny, ten years old, applied for a job as grocery boy for the summer. The grocer wanted a serious-minded youth, so he put Johnny to a little test.

"Well, my boy, what would you do with a million dollars?" he asked.

"Oh, gee, I don't know. I wasn't expecting so much at the start."

Personnel Director: "Have you any references?"

Applicant: "Sure, here's the letter." To whom it may concern, John Jones worked for me one week and we're satisfied.

WHAT IF

Tammy Y. were 6 feet tall?

Mr. Davis' first period algebra class didn't talk all the time.

Tom Burks were the Boston Strangler?

Jennifer P. weren't popular in Enterprise?

The seniors of '74 weren't still freshmen?

The juniors were really jealous of the seniors?

The air conditioners worked all the time in the Jr. High wing?

The bells worked accurately?

Brenda O. and Steve C. got married?

B. C. and J. W. didn't take pictures all the time?

1974 — REMEMBER IT

The 1974 Elba Staff would like to see each student at EHS purchase one of "your" 1974 Elba's.

Of course we know this is an unlikely situation, but we do feel that more students can buy one.

We realize the price of the annuals this year are a little expensive, but the staff did not set the price.

Yet years from now, each one of you can look back through your high school annuals and the memories will be worth more than a million dollars.

This year can never be physically relived or revisited but you can relive the year in your mind and we feel "your" 1974 Elba would be an invaluable asset to you in years to come.

The Senior class needs your help in making 1974 a year to never be forgotten. Make your contribution by buying a 1974 Elba. The time is now.

Can you divide 10 into two parts-one five times as large as the other? Answer: 1/23 and 9/23.

Willie James Phillips was chosen as outstanding player of the Elba-Ozark game. We at EHS, along with his mother, Mrs. Pearl Mae Phillips, are proud of Willie's athletic achievements.

He is interested in all kinds of sports. Fishing, hunting and swimming are some of his hobbies. After finishing high school, Willie plans to go to college.

He is a member of the Annual Staff and VICA.

His opinion of our school is that it needs to be kept cleaner.

He thinks students don't try to improve the way their school looks.

Willie's subjects include Bus, math, modern literature, auto mech, democracy and PE.

He is affiliated with the Baptist Church.

Think About It

In last week's comics, the Peanut strip had one of the most inspiring lines I have ever read, especially in the funny papers.

It started off with Snoopy writing a book. The lines which he was writing presents a philosophy of life that we sometimes try not to notice. The lines went something like this:

He had wanted to be rich. He died poor.

He wanted friends. He died friendless.

He wanted to be loved. He died unloved.

He wanted laughter. He found only tears.

He wanted applause. He found only obscenity.

He wanted fame. He found only obscurity.

He wanted answers. He found only questions.

He wanted to be a hero. He found only a fool.

He wanted to be a king. He found only a peasant.

He wanted to be a god. He found only a man.

He wanted to be a saint. He found only a sinner.

He wanted to be a hero. He found only a fool.

He wanted to be a king. He found only a peasant.

He wanted to be a god. He found only a man.

He wanted to be a saint. He found only a sinner.

He wanted to be a hero. He found only a fool.

He wanted to be a king. He found only a peasant.

He wanted to be a god. He found only a man.

He wanted to be a saint. He found only a sinner.

He wanted to be a hero. He found only a fool.

He wanted to be a king. He found only a peasant.

He wanted to be a god. He found only a man.

He wanted to be a saint. He found only a sinner.

He wanted to be a hero. He found only a fool.

He wanted to be a king. He found only a peasant.

He wanted to be a god. He found only a man.

He wanted to be a saint. He found only a sinner.

He wanted to be a hero. He found only a fool.

He wanted to be a king. He found only a peasant.

He wanted to be a god. He found only a man.

He wanted to be a saint. He found only a sinner.

Can you divide 10 into two parts-one five times as large as the other? Answer: 1/23 and 9/23.

Willie James Phillips was chosen as outstanding player of the Elba-Ozark game. We at EHS, along with his mother, Mrs. Pearl Mae Phillips, are proud of Willie's athletic achievements.

He is interested in all kinds of sports. Fishing, hunting and swimming are some of his hobbies. After finishing high school, Willie plans to go to college.

He is a member of the Annual Staff and VICA.

His opinion of our school is that it needs to be kept cleaner.

He thinks students don't try to improve the way their school looks.

Willie's subjects include Bus, math, modern literature, auto mech, democracy and PE.

He is affiliated with the Baptist Church.

Congratulations, Willie James!

Mrs. Roylene Kennett and Mrs. Mary Grider decided to "become involved" and put their thoughts into action where community ecology is concerned.

BRUNSON RUNS FOR YARDAGE

RESCUE REPORT

The Elba Rescue Squad made the following runs during the period of October 16 through 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper are members of the Alabama Rose Society, with members in Southeast Alabama and North-west Florida and are also members of the American Rose Society, a nationwide organization.

FIRE REPORT

For the first time in six weeks, the Elba Fire Department has answered fire calls.

This couple is constantly adding to and regaining their rose bushes to assure a higher quality rose. Mrs. Cooper explains that all roses are graded on a point system with ten points being perfect.

Compton Is Superintendent

Mr. Ed Compton has been hired by the Elba Water and Electric Board as Superintendent of the Department.

Many rose growers who invest time and money as the Coopers do will not allow any roses to be cut from their garden, but the Robert Coopers are continuously taking roses to the Elba Nursing Home and local churches. They feel this is their reward.

Toys Are Needed

Specialist 4 Johnnie L. Robins, left, Company E, 30th Infantry, and Pvt. Eric R. Haines, Company A, 46th Engineer Battalion, put the finishing touches on a fleet of peddle cars that were given to the annual toy drive being held at Ft. Rucker.

The repaired toys will be distributed at Christmas to underprivileged children in the local area.
